in the value of literature rafe mcgregor employs a unique approach the combination of philosophical work on value theory and critical work on the relationship between form and content to present a new argument for and defence of literary humanism he argues that literature has value for art for culture and for humanity in short that it matters unlike most contemporary defenders of literary value the author's strategy does not involve arguing that literature is good as a means to one of the various ends that matter to human beings it is not that literature necessarily makes us cleverer more sensitive more virtuous more creative or just generally better people nor is it true that there is a necessary relation between literature and edification clarification cultural critique catharsis or therapy rather than offer an argument that forges a tenuous link between literature and truth or literature and virtue or literature and the sacred this book analyses the non derivative sui generis value characteristic of literature and demonstrates why that matters as an end in itself on the fringes of literature and digital media culture offers a polyphonic account of mutual interpenetrations of literature and new media shifting its focus from the personal to the communal and back again the volume addresses such individual experiences as immersion and emotional reading offers insights into collective processes of commercialisation and consumption of new media products and explores the experience and mechanisms of interactivity convergence culture and participatory culture crucially the volume also shows convincingly that though without doubt global digital culture and new media have their varied specifically local facets and manifestations shaped by national contingencies the interplay of the common subtext and local colour is discussed by the contributors from eastern europe and the western world contributors are justyna fruzińska dirk de geest maciej jakubowiak michael joyce kinga kasperek barbara kaszowska wandor aleksandra małecka piotr marecki Łukasz mirocha aleksandra mochocka emilya ohar mariusz pisarski anna Ślósarz dawn stobbert jean webb indrė Žakevičienė agata zarzycka
